

Up close and personal with the Experts

Special Anniversary Symposium August 23rd, 2019

Come and join us for a high profile special anniversary symposium to celebrate ten years of teaching both basic and clinical aspects of atherosclerosis research on a face-to-face level! Leading experts in the fields will share their experience and knowledge in review talks as well as open discussions. Don't miss this opportunity to discuss cutting-edge topics up close and personal with the experts!

The meeting will be held in the Karolinum of Charles University, a beautiful historic edifice dating back to the year 1383 when it was first used as a hall of residence for students. Today, the impressive and meanwhile mostly baroque building hosts graduation ceremonies and art exhibitions. And this year, it will also be the venue of the iARS anniversary symposium.

Please note that there is a limited capacity of 100 participants. There is no registration fee, but to secure your place, please register at
